Planning For Meeting By 4-H Clubs

Before Program Is Fixed Select The Extra Activities

Well planned yearly programs will add much to the success of Pettis County 4-H club meetings in 1949.

With reorganization work completed in most clubs, committees are planning the club activities for the coming year. In order to make the program a satisfactory one and make meetings interesting, the program should be based on the needs and interests of the members. As in any other organization, the members should be given an opportunity to participate in the meetings. This will help develop leadership as well as share the responsibilities of leadership.

Before planning the yearly program the 4-H club should select the extra activities which will be carried for the year. Extra activities include first aid, everyday courtesies, grooming, posture, safety, wildlife conservation, and music appreciation. After the one or two extra activities to be emphasized have been selected, the program committee can fit the activity into each month's meeting. This can be done by assigning club members a talk or demonstration to be given at the community meeting. Health should also be on the 4-H program as it is the 4th "H" and a part of the 4 "H's".

Demonstrate Projects

Demonstrations, an important part of 4-H project work, should be given special emphasis in the

Balanced Farm Record Meet

Members of Pettis County's 1949 Balanced Farming Association will gather at the Fifth Street Methodist church, Tuesday, January 25th for a session on farm records. Loose leaf farm record books are being furnished to association members to encourage them to keep better records. Two Extension Economists, C. R. Meeker and Miss Madonna Fitzgerald of the University of Missouri will assist with the meeting.

The meeting will start at 10 a. m. and be over by 3 p. m. A covered dish lunch will be served at the church.

community 4-H club meeting. Ordinarily, demonstrations will first have been given at project meetings. A good way of affording each member an opportunity to participate in meetings is to plan to have each member give at least one demonstration at the community club meeting.

By keeping in mind the regular club events and planning other meetings accordingly, the program planning for the twelve month period will become much simpler. Events which are participated in by most clubs are local achievement day, project tours, participation in 4-H Sunday, completing project record books, reorganization, program planning, and social meetings such as a Christmas party, a Halloween party, or a fourth of July picnic or swimming party. Games and songs should also be emphasized in the club meetings. A club meeting ended with several interesting group games can mean a happy ending to a good meeting.

Each club should have some definite goals in mind at the beginning of the year. Goals which all 4-H clubs should have include: every member participate in club meetings, all members finish project work and turn in completed records on time, parents attend club meetings, all club members attend county 4-H events, and every member to be able to lead at least one game.

Time spent in planning the club program will help make a better 4-H club county program in 1949, one which is both educational and recreational.

After the activities for the year have been approved by the club they should be copied into the 4-H club program booklet. Each 4-H club family should have a copy of the booklet which when completed also gives the date and place of the meetings.

Copies of the 4-H club program booklet, suggested topics to be used for demonstrations, discussions, or talks for extra club activities, and suggested topics for project demonstrations may be obtained at the county extension office at 410 1/2 South Ohio in Sedalia.

Missouri Mules to Inaugural

Quarterly Meet Of Extension Club

The Pettis County Extension club held its regular quarterly meeting Saturday afternoon, January 8, in the Library. Mrs. George Fichter, county council president presided.

Miss Disaver explained the special studies being used on the club programs for 1949. These include American Traditions, Consumer Buying, Farm and Home Safety, and Missouri Schools.

Mrs. A. A. Studebaker from the Red Cross talked to the group and talked on typing of blood and blood donors. She asked the cooperation of club members.

Mrs. Carl Raines was elected secretary treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by Mrs. Charles Callis' resignation.

Mrs. George Fichter told of the cancer clinic in Sedalia and the need for surgical dressings that clubs might want to help make.

Mrs. Carl Johnson of the Quisenberry club told of their club being against the present comic books and horror stories for children. The group decided that they would like to take some action and a committee was appointed to see what could be done.

Mrs. H. L. Hill announced the plans for the 1949 dramatics festival.

Presidents attending and their clubs were: Mrs. J. J. Cramer, Arator; Mrs. I. J. Rhoads, Better Homes; Mrs. Arthur Meyer, Blackwater; Mrs. L. V. Igo, Bowling Green; Mrs. George Fichter, Dresden; Mrs. J. T. Edmondson, Flat Creek; Mrs. James P. Dunham, George; Mrs. Edward Cusick, High Point; Mrs. Albert Anderson, Hopewell; Mrs. Clinton Lowery, Hughesville; Mrs. Emmett Brown, La Monte Home Economics; Mrs. Arthur Mahin, La Monte Thursday; Mrs. Carl Raines, Longwood; Mrs. John Vannoy, Manila; Mrs. Norman Gibson, Oak Point; Mrs. Harold Schanz, Prairie Ridge; Mrs. Carl Johnson, Quisenberry; Mrs. H. L. Hill, Smith Home Economics; Mrs. E. E. Barrick, South

Crops And Soils Conference Feb. 11

The annual Soils and Crops conference will be held February 11. This is the big extension meeting of the year.

O. T. Coleman, Specialist in Soils of the University of Missouri will be the principle speaker, who will discuss "Soils and Crops Practices in Balanced Farming". Mr. Coleman has had a wide experience with the use of fertilizer and will discuss soil tests and their value to a farmer.

A part of the program will consist of reports of farmers on some phase of crop production. Garnett Haggard will preside over the conference.

Stabilizers Of Land Available

Rendering a year's supply of land for home use is a regular winter task of many families. But many are disappointed before the supply is consumed because the land has become rancid, even though it was good and fresh when made.

There are now on the market recommended land stabilizers which when properly used will keep land from becoming rancid, says Miss Flora Carl, Missouri University extension nutritionist.

To keep land fresh add some approved commercial stabilizer according to directions. Or, add 2 or 3 pounds of hydrogenated vegetable oil to each 50 pounds of fresh land. Stir the stabilizer in while the land is still in the kettle. This commercial shortening has been hardened by forcing hydrogen gas through it, a process which keeps the air out of the land, preventing it from oxidizing.

Another new preparation known as "N.D.G.A." is now available and can be used to preserve or protect your land. Either of these land protectors should be added to the land in the kettle when the land is hot, just before settling and separating the cracklings in the lard press.

Pour the lard into tall narrow containers—pint and quart jars are excellent. Fill brimful, seal and store in a cool, dark place.

High quality lard is white, smooth and mild in flavor.

Dairying To Be Discussed

Artificial insemination, Brucellosis (Bang's Disease), pasture, testing and other subjects will be discussed at the county meeting of dairymen and farmers milking cows. This meeting will be at the Court House, January 21, starting at 10 a. m. and closing at 3 p. m.

Reports on the work on artificial insemination will be given by Victor Miller, Wallace Cordes and Warren Nordyke. Mr. Miller has charge of the work in Pettis county and will report on some of the essentials to follow in having a successful program. Mr. Hoehns and Mrs. Cordes will report on their successful experience in using this service. Mr. Nordyke, manager of the Breeding Farm at Springfield will discuss the program over the entire area. M. J. Regan, Dairy Extension Specialist of the University of Missouri will participate in this discussion. This phase of dairying will be held from 10 a. m. to 11:15 a. m.

The period from 11:15 until noon will be used in discussing proposed legislation on Brucellosis and how a producer might handle this problem in his dairy enterprise. Mr. Regan will be the speaker on this.

The program after noon will deal with pasture, silage, hay, grain feeding, Merle Vaughn, Associate Agent in charge of the Balanced Farming Association will report on some improvements the members of the Balanced Farming Association have made in their pasture, hay and water supply, and saving labor by rearranging some of the buildings.

Mr. Regan will be the principle speaker on the afternoon program.

Recognition Meet Jan. 21

The annual recognition for 4-H club members will be held January 21 at Convention Hall, Sedalia. The program is scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m.

Emmett Fairfax, president of the 4-H Council will preside.

The program calls for group singing led by Ella Dee Runge; Summary of 1948 4-H club work in the County, by Roy I. Coplen, County Agent; Leaders recognition by State 4-H Club Agent; Parents part in 4-H club work from a members point of view; Presentation of County Awards by Miss Esther Disaver, Home Agent; Farm Bureau's part in 4-H club work by C. S. Arnold, president of the Pettis County Farm Bureau; awarding of 4-H pins; announcing the winner of the Dorothy Bacon plaque and games led by a number of game leaders in the county.

The public is invited. Special invitations are extended to members and their parents and 4-H leaders of all 4-H clubs, in Pettis County in 1948 and in 1949. Refreshments consisting of soft drinks will be served.

Hot Cereal Good For Breakfast

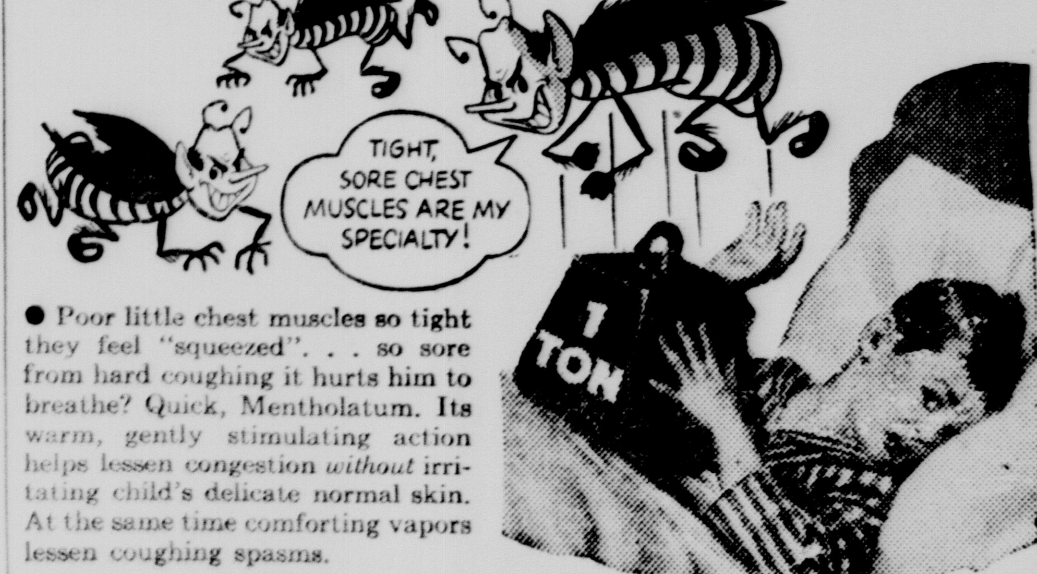

This time of year it is especially important to have a filling breakfast. For it is food digesting in the body that generates heat to help us keep warm.

An excellent dish for breakfast is hot cereal. Whole grain cereals such as rolled oats and cracked wheat are the best for us. They have more vitamins and minerals than highly milled grains that have the outer layers removed says Miss Flora Carl, extension nutritionist of the University of Missouri.

To increase the food value of cereal cook it with all or part milk. For best results when using milk, cook cereal in a double boiler. For variety, add dried raisins, dates, figs, apricots or prunes. Or top the cereal with stewed fruit or fruit juices.

Beware of Romance

By Roberto Courtland Copyright by Gramercy Pub. Co. Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Merry meets Mike's mother, who mistakes Merry for another girl Mike had recently been in love with. Mike tells Merry his mother is charming but irresponsible. She has been married several times. He seems to take it for granted that Merry is going to marry him.

XXIV

A FEW evenings later, Merry let herself into the apartment that was Kin's home, even if as yet she could not quite feel at home there. and was on her way to her own room to change for dinner when Kin called to her from the living room.

"Is that you, chick? Come in. Haven't seen you in ages."

Gay and lovely in her mink coat and the little cap of fur that matched it, she came in and kissed him.

"Fun to see you, Dad."

"Fun to see you. I do see you flashing through every now and then like a 'bright-winged bird of passage,' but it's only a glimpse. Let me look at you!"

He held her off and surveyed her with fond eyes, and Merry, laughing and flushed, made him a gay little curtsy.

"Obviously, New York agrees with you. The question is, do you agree with New York?" he asked teasingly.

"Oh, yes, I love New York!"

They smiled at each other warmly and Kin said suddenly, "I suppose you have a date list a yard long and you've just rushed in to change into something even more devastating and rush out again?"

There was a very faint hint of wistfulness in his voice, and Merry looked at him swiftly.

"I do have a dinner date, but it could be broken," she said recklessly.

"Oh, well, I only thought if you were free, though of course I was "Just plain 'no,' Mike, be a lamb."

"Look, treasure, I've had a lot of run-arounds in my time, I admit it; but no little gal your size has ever brushed me off before with the bland announcement that she prefers her Dad to me—unless she adds the word 'sugar' before 'Dad.' I don't like it."

"I'm sorry if you don't, Mike, but frankly I think you are being very childish. And I'm having dinner with Dad and that's that!"

THERE was a brief silence and then she heard the little click with which he replaced the receiver, and for a moment she sat staring at the telephone, wide-eyed. Surely he couldn't possibly be that childish.

She admitted to herself that recently Mike had grown rather unpleasantly possessive—demanding all her time; resenting it if she so much as looked at anyone else; making it very plain to all his friends and to those she was acquiring that she was his special property.

He was gay and amusing and she liked him a lot. In fact, she liked him so much that it disturbed her a little. But lately his proprietary manner had made her vaguely uneasy. She didn't want to marry him; and she knew of course, that he really was in no hurry to get married. And when he did marry it would be one of the brittle, sophisticated girls of his own set.

But when he kissed her—as he did now almost as a matter of course—she went all melting and breathless inside and her knees turned to wet tissue paper and she wanted nothing so much as to stay in his arms the rest of her life. It was only when she was away from him that she could look at him clearly and realize that, for all his charm and his good looks, for all his rather alarming but distinctly exciting audacity, she was not in love with him. At least, she told herself soberly, she didn't think she was!

Yet the thought of being married to him was one that brought her heart up into her throat with a sweet, breathless excitement.

Meet The President: (No. 1) From Boyhood Battles to Battlefields

Harry S. Truman's boyhood piano lessons were battle lessons, too.

As he walked down the street in Independence, Mo., his music roll tucked under his arm, he had to counter the jibes of kids who couldn't understand his preference for Bach over baseball. Shy, quiet, bespectacled since his eighth birthday, the future President was considered sissified by his classmates.

He developed an early devotion to books. While his friends were racing their horses cross-country, he was reading every volume he could find on American history. He finished high school at 17. Study has been his lifetime passion.

Church News

The January meeting of the Fidelity Sunday school class of the Methodist church of Smithton, was held January 4, at the home of Mrs. P. V. Siegel with Mrs. Edwin Bultemeier as assisting hostess. Mrs. William Green presided during the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. William Lamm. Devotionals were given by Mrs. Robert Griffin. Mrs. Harry Henderson was in charge of the games.

After the meeting was adjourned, the hostesses served refreshments to: Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Walter Baxter, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. George Griffin, Mrs. Robert Griffin, Mrs. Harry Henderson, Mrs. Raymond Kahrs, Mrs. Dick Monsees, Mrs. Olen Monsees, Mrs. Victor Miller, Miss Verona Neumeyer, Mrs. Sheldon Smith, Mrs. Floyd Schlusing, Mrs. William Zinn, and Mrs. Ford.

The Ruth Circle of the Women's Guild of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church held the first meeting of the year Thursday at the home of the leader, Mrs. Orville Perkins of 715 West Second street.

A devotional service preceded the business meeting. The mission study book, "On Our Own Door Step," will be revealed in succeeding meetings. It was planned to pack a box of food and clothing each month for relief in Germany. Names were drawn for secret pals for the year. Towels for the church kitchen were hemmed.

Mrs. Perkins appointed committees as follows: Social service committee, Mrs. Michael Wolfel and Mrs. Louise Metcalf; sewing committee, Mrs. W. G. Borne and Mrs. William Schwermer; sick committee, Mrs. Fred Callies, Mrs. Louise Metcalf and Mrs. Harvey Hale; devotional chairman, Mrs. Joe Tingle; secretary, Mrs. Roy Fender; treasurer, Mrs. Marion Latham; phone committee, Mrs. Charles Hayes, Mrs. William Schwermer.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Borne, 1315 South Kentucky avenue with Mrs. Charles Eakins as assisting hostess.

Perhaps his interest in history was enhanced by the fact that the Truman family roots were planted in the soil of Missouri in pioneer days. All four of his grandparents moved west from Kentucky in 1842, settling in the fertile farmlands of Grandview, near the site of Kansas City. Four generations of Trumans tilled a 600-acre tract acquired by the family in 1887.

For a short time, Harry's parents left the farm to live in nearby Lamar. He was born there on May 8, 1884, the first of three children. When the Trumans moved to Independence, Harry was six years old. He was enrolled in the Independence public school.

Always a good student, he had to give up plans for a college education, one of his chief desires. His father was known as the "best horse trader in Jackson county," but had suffered financial reverses at about the time Harry received his diploma from Independence High School.

Harry obtained an appointment to West Point, but failed the physical examination because of weak eyes. Thereupon he rolled up his sleeves and set out to earn his keep and help fill the family lander. He ran errands and washed windows in a drug store. He left this job for a better one, as a wrapper of newspapers in the mail room of the Kansas City Star. He worked as a time keeper for a railroad construction company.

riding to work on a handcar which he pumped himself.

His parents moved back to Grandview from Independence in 1904, to help his grandmother and uncle manage the farm. By now Truman was a bank clerk, earning $100 a month. Two years later he became a farmer, joining his father as a partner. For 11 years he rose at dawn and worked until dusk—a work habit he has never lost.

"That boy could plow the straightest row of corn in the county," his mother recalled, years later. "He was a farmer who could do everything there was to do just a little better than anyone else."

World War I ended his uneventful farm life. "Captain Harry" went overseas with his Missouri National Guard unit. Commanding Battery D of the 129th Field Artillery, 35th Division, he saw heavy fighting which included the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives.

Captain Harry's men reciprocated his loyalty. All through his career he has supported his friends steadfastly. On the troopship coming home, his battery took up a collection for a loving cup to be presented to him.

When Harry Truman set foot again on the American soil he had tilled and cherished, he was 35 years old. He was destined to start a new career, far afield from farm chores.

Study Self Improvement

The Friendly Homemakers Club of Smithton met on January 14 at the home of Mrs. Walter Baxter, with Mrs. Walter Maloney, assisting hostess.

Mrs. Albert Moore, the new club president, presided, with devotionals by Mrs. Frank Briggs Streit, followed with a prayer and poem, "The New Year." Mrs. William Green called the roll, with nine members answering. "One Way I Resolve to Improve Myself This Coming Year."

The year books were filled out, followed by games led by Mrs. William J. Lamm, with awards going to Mrs. P. V. Siegel and Mrs. William Green. Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Albert Moore, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Frank Briggs Streit, Mrs. William J. Lamm, Mary Catherine Lamm, Mrs. William Zinn, Mrs. Victor Miller, Carolyn, Mrs. P. V. Siegel.

The next meeting will be February 11 with Mrs. William Green, with Mrs. Marvin Goodwin the assisting hostess.

Needle Workers Meet

The Byberry Needle Workers club met with Mrs. Melton Faulwell and Mrs. Myrtle Williams January 13, with nine members, one visitor and three children present.

A contributive dinner was served at noon. The afternoon was spent binding a quilt for the hostesses.

The next meeting will be held February 10 with Mrs. Clara Faulwell and Mrs. Bruce Williams.

Retail Grocers To Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Sedalia Independent Retail Grocers Association will be held Tuesday night at the Milton Grocery, Seventh street and Engineer avenue, starting at 8:00 p. m. At this meeting plans will be furthered for the annual Valentine Carnival and Dance being sponsored by the local food industry and American Legion Post No. 16 and which will be held at Liberty Park Thursday, February 3rd. All retail members of the food industry are invited to be present for the meeting.

Congress May Be Asked For Eight Billions

In Payroll Taxes To Finance Social Security Program

By Francis M. Le May
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The administration was reported today as about ready to ask Congress for almost $8,000,000,000 in payroll taxes next year to finance a vastly expanded Social Security program that would include government payment of doctor bills.

This would be more than double the $3,250,000,000 now collected annually for the present limited coverage old age and survivors insurance, and for unemployment compensation.

Now President Truman is proposing health and disability insurance, and expansion and liberalization of present old age benefits and unemployment compensations.

The administration is expected to ask for a six per cent social security tax—probably 3 per cent to be collected from that part of an employed person's pay up to $4,800 (This would make the maximum pay envelope tax $144 against a present top of $20), and probably a similar 3 per cent from his boss' payroll.

May Be Higher
Later, when the health insurance program gets in full swing, the tax will become higher—a determination has not been made, but maybe around 4 per cent each against employee and employer.

(Social security taxes now are 1 per cent on that part of an employed person's income up to $3,000, or a top of $30 a year. The employer matches each worker's tax. In addition the employer pays an unemployment compensation tax that averages out at about 1 1/2 per cent. The employee does not pay anything into the unemployment fund. The security taxes are entirely separate from individual and corporate income taxes).

Benefits
In return for higher social security taxes, the government—if Congress approves—would promise:

1. A pension in old age. The program that now covers 30,000,000 employed persons would be extended to 20,000,000 more, including farm workers, domestic workers and the self-employed. Benefits in old age would be increased by at least 50 per cent over present pensions that are based on how much a person earned in his working years. This program includes benefits for a worker's family if he dies.

2. Pay when a worker is out of a job. The present unemployment compensation system probably would be liberalized to provide much larger benefits during periods of unemployment. The states now fix the amount and duration of jobless pay. Under the new program the administration wants the federal government to set minimum standards of unemployment compensation, for the states to follow.

A New Benefit
3. Pay for a worker when he is sick, or if he becomes permanently disabled. A man unable to work because of illness probably would get about the same benefits as if he were unemployed. If he became permanently disabled he might draw benefits as if he were eligible for an old age pension.

4. Payment of his and his family's doctor bills and other medical expenses. The law would be new. An ill employed person not only would get his doctor bills paid, but also would draw cash compensation from the government, as if he were unemployed, during the illness.

Soon to Act On Controls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Vice President-elect Barkley said today that congress will act soon to extend rent and export controls.

Democratic leaders from the senate and the house conferred with President Truman. Barkley said they had a general discussion of the legislative program, but reached no decisions as to what bill will be taken up first.

But he said rent and export controls will be among the early ones. The present rent control law expires March 31. The administration is asking for a two-year extension of the law in tight-circumstances.

For more important action, congressional leaders have ticketed first a pay raise for the President and, second, senate approval of Dean Acheson to be the new secretary of state.

Completing the organization of congress comes ahead of that. To do that, house Democrats called a meeting to okay their committee assignments and a shake-up that would put southern Democrats off the un-American activities committee and puts on an all-lawyer team.

Case in Hands Of Officials
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The case of reported rape and lower berth five of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited was left in the hands of railroad and Oregon investigators today.

Two sailors questioned for seven and a half hours in Los Angeles following a 1,000-mile, two-state, inquiry on the train were released to proceed to their station in San Diego. Authorities said no charges were in custody.

Mrs. O. W. Holmes, 35-year-old mother of two, who was reported the assault to the train crew, then to Dist. Atty. Dayton Van Vactor of Klamath Falls, Ore., was in seclusion with relatives in the Los Angeles area. They told reporters she would make no statement, on advice of an attorney she is retaining.

Van Vactor said he had nothing so far to justify arrests and would issue no warrants. He planned to ask over all evidence compiled to the prosecutor of Lane county, Ore., where the alleged assault occurred.

Trial of 12 Top Communist Party Leaders

Opens Today in New York; Large Police Guard

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Trial of 12 top Communist party leaders, accused of working for the forcible overthrow of the U. S. government, opened at 10:43 a. m. (EST) today.

Only 11 of the defendants were present. Missing was William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist party, whose attorneys previously had indicated he would not appear because of illness.

A large police guard stood by to preserve order as the controversial court case got under way. More than 400 police and federal agents have been assigned to prevent disorderly demonstrations and to handle the pickets expected to protest the trial.

Sealed medical reports on the condition of Foster will decide the question of a possible delay in the trial.

Postponed From November
The trial was postponed last November because Foster, 67, was suffering a heart ailment. He and his 11 co-defendants are charged with conspiring to organize a party advocating overthrow of the government by force and violence.

The defendants—who compose the national board of the Communist party—face a possible maximum penalty of ten years in prison and $10,000 fine if convicted. They were indicted by a federal grand jury last July 20 during a lengthy investigation of alleged subversive activities and Communist espionage. All are free on $5,000 bail each.

The defendants, in addition to Foster, are:

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the American Communist party.

Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., Negro Communist member of the New York City Council.

Blanket Indictment
John Gates, editor of the Daily Communist newspaper.

Robert G. Thompson, New York State Communist party chairman.

John Williamson, the party's labor secretary.

Jack Stachel, national education director.

Henry Winston, national organizing secretary.

Irving Potash, manager of the CIO furriers joint council.

Gilbert Green, of Chicago, Illinois, state chairman of the party.

Carl Winter, of Detroit, chairman of the Michigan state council of the party.

Gus Hall, of Cleveland, Ohio state chairman.

A blanket indictment accused all twelve Communists of conspiracy to violate the Smith Act, a defense measure passed in 1940. In addition, each was indicted individually on charges of specific violation of the act. Today's trial is only on the conspiracy charge.

Guard Rail Pierces Body
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Clarence J. Schamel, 25, was impaled on a ten-foot section of guard rail for about 45 minutes yesterday, and survived.

The Kroger Company auditor lost control of his automobile on the express highway opposite the arena, and the vehicle tore through the guard rail.

A 14-inch pipe at the top of the guard rail went through the dashboard, pierced Schamel's abdomen and the car seat behind him.

Firemen saved off the pipe on each side of Schamel's body and physicians at City hospital later removed the portion of pipe which had been left in his body. Schamel was conscious until he reached the hospital.

His condition was described today as critical. Physicians said he suffered ruptures of a kidney and the intestines.

Manslaughter Charges Filed
Manslaughter charges have been filed against Orval E. Petree, 1211 East Broadway, in Magistrate court today. His case was set for January 25, and he was released on a $2,000 bond. Fred F. Wesner is his attorney.

Petree was driving a 1946 Ford truck, heading east on highway 50, two miles west of Dresden, when the truck he was driving collided with a 1946 Plymouth sedan, driven by Harvey A. Horowitz, Saturday afternoon about 3:15 o'clock.

As a result of the collision, Horowitz was killed instantly. Witnesses in the case are Lella Horowitz, R. S. and J. D. Black, two deputies from Kansas City, who were following the Horowitz automobile when the collision occurred, and Sgt. William Barton and Trooper Pete Stohr.

Twins After Mother is Dead

ELGIN, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Twin girls delivered by caesarian section six minutes after their mother died Saturday were reported yesterday to be "doing very well."

The babies weighed five pounds four ounces and four pounds twelve ounces and would have had mature, normal birth about two hours later if their mother had survived, physicians said.

The mother, Mrs. Marcella Larson, 29, had been seized by a series of convulsions about 23 hours before her death but the physicians said they had decided upon normal delivery which they hoped to accomplish between the seizures.

The surgeon described such instances of multiple births as rare. He said babies in the womb exhaust the oxygen supply in the mother's blood stream within a few minutes after her death with the result that they all die. He added that the difficulties in handling such cases further increases the odds against their survival.

Father of the children is Carlton H. Larson, a watch company employee.

ELGIN, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The father of twin girls born after their mother died today said his parents and brother will take the babies into their homes.

The twins were delivered by Caesarian section six minutes after the death of their mother, Mrs. Marcella Larson, 29, Saturday. The father, Carlton H. Larson, said the babies will be placed temporarily in the care of his parents and brother who live on adjoining farms near Rockford, Ill. He is moving in with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mary F. Coss, Elgin.

Larson said the girls had been named Lorraine Mae and Lois Maylene, and that both are doing well and taking nourishment in the hospital's incubator.

Truman Wasn't A Bit 'Finicky'

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 17.—(AP)—President Truman as a World War I artillery officer "ate everything we put in front of him," says the man who did most of his cooking.

"Captain Harry wasn't a bit 'finicky' about his food in his soldier days," Charles Blankenmeier said last night as he prepared to attend President Truman's inaugural Thursday.

"I should know," Blankenmeier said, "because I prepared his food for a long time, along with the food for a couple of hundred other men."

Now 62 and employed as an upholsterer, Blankenmeier served as cook for Battery D, 129th field artillery of the 35th division—the battery commanded by President Truman.

Blankenmeier, one of a number of the President's former battery mates, who will attend the inaugural ceremonies, said he was surprised to have been invited to the Washington affair.

"Why, no one in our battery ever thought of Captain Harry being in politics, but there's nothing sure, all the Battery D boys are tickled to death."

Five-Year-Old Gives Advice

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Stay home. Read the Bible. Avoid "hot" running around so much." It is five-year-old Reverend Marjorie Gortner's advice to today's parents.

"You know brothers and sisters—what America needs is better Christian mothers," the young ordained minister of the Old Time Faith church preached yesterday in the Masonic Temple. "I thank God for my Christian mother."

The occasion was the boy's first sermon since his fifth birthday last Friday. Present were sailor Raymond Miller and his bride, the couple Marjorie married here two weeks ago. The ceremony was denounced by local clergymen but is apparently valid.

Clad in a blue suit, the boy played the accordion and drums before beginning his sermon titled: To This End I Was Born.

He advocated more frequent prayers to some 1,200 listeners, crying, "I may be only five years old, but I know what it is to have Jesus in my heart. Do you know what it is to have Jesus in your heart?"

Five-Year-Old Gives Advice
The Rev. Walter P. Arnold, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist church will officiate.

Interment will be in the Memorial Park cemetery.

The body is at the funeral home.

Hogan Back In Winning Golf Circle

Bagged Crosby Invitational With Eight Under Par

By Russ Newland

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Ben Hogan, the golfer they always have to beat for the big money, was back in the winner's circle again today. And with $2,500 to show for it.

Stopped cold in his first tournament pitch of the year last week at Los Angeles, Hogan bounced back yesterday to bag the Bing Crosby Invitational with an eight under par count of 208. More than 10,000 fans saw the windup.

Playing over the three separate courses prescribed for crooner Crosby's annual exclusive links party here, Hogan reeled off sub-par rounds each day.

He rigged up a 70 for the Cypress Point course; followed with a 68 at the Monterey Peninsula Country club layout; and bucked a stiff wind to post a snappy 70 for the great Pebble Beach championship course on his final round. Par for all three is 72.

Won Extra $500

In addition to taking top money of $2,000 in the pro division of the tournament, Hogan won an extra $500 when he and his partner, amateur John Dawson for Los Angeles, finished third in the pro-amateur best ball competition.

The victorious pro-amateur combination yesterday was Big Bill Nary of Phoenix, Ariz., and the old National League baseball star and leading hitter, Francis "Lefty" O'Doul, now manager of the San Francisco Seals. Nary and southpaw O'Doul put together best ball rounds of 61-66-69-196. It was worth $1,000 to Nary and a swell radio to O'Doul.

The low scoring amateur of the tourney was Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, with rounds of 71-66-72-215.

Trailing Hogan at yesterday's finish was Jim Ferrier, the husky Australian-born pro who plays out of San Francisco. Ferrier posted scores of 69-70-71-210 to win $1,250. Jim Demaret, Ojai, Calif., with 69-70-72-211, won $1,000.

All American Board Meeting

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Rumors of how a compromise pro football peace may be met were uncorked today as members of the All American Conference board of strategy began arriving in Chicago to map future plans.

Spearshead of the group will be Jonas H. Ingram, who intends to resign as AAC commissioner, and Benjamin F. Lindheimer, owner of the Los Angeles Rams. Arthur McBride of Cleveland; Tony Marabito, San Francisco; Jim Breuil, Buffalo, and Dan Topping, New York, also are on the AAC's "peace board" which will convene behind closed doors in Lindheimer's loop office tomorrow.

From this session are expected to come new peace feelers to be matched with those of the 29-year-old National Football league in behind-the-scenes talks sometime during the week.

The NFL scheduled its annual routine meeting here beginning Thursday. The AAC's shift from an originally planned meeting in New York next month to Chicago at this time has been construed as making way for a second peace pipe parley. The first one, late last month in Philadelphia, ended in a stalemate.

Game Tonight At Springfield

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Southwest Missouri state Bears of Springfield, who won the first two MIAA basketball titles and the Kirkville Teachers, champs the past couple of seasons, meet tonight at Springfield.

On a basis of early games, Springfield is favored to topple the Kirkville Bulldogs who lost to Warrensburg, 38-37, last Saturday night. It was Kirkville's first MIAA loss since the Bulldogs were whipped by Springfield in 1947.

Coach Andy McDonald's Springfield team is unbeaten in twelve games this season and boasts one of the finest defensive records among the small colleges of the nation. Through games of Jan. 8, the Bears had held ten opponents to an average of 37.3 points, second best mark in the country.

Springfield has won one MIAA start, whipping Warrensburg 50-42.

Move to Help The Umpire

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Scorn the poor umpire, but don't throw bottles at him if a proposed law is enacted in Texas.

The proposed law would make the guy that threw the bottle share the pain — except that his pain will be in the pocketbook.

Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth has prepared a bill for introduction in the state legislature which will make it "unlawful for any person in attendance at any football, baseball or other athletic contest or game to throw a bottle, cushion, rock or other missile."

Kelly said he was doing it at the request of the Texas inter-scholastic league which sponsors thousands of ball games in the state each year. But bottle and cushion throwing has not been confined to the high schools. The colleges have had their share.

In 1947 a bottle-throwing incident marred the Texas-Oklahoma football game in Dallas. Referee Jack Sisco was the target as Oklahoma fans became incensed at some of the rulings. After the game the officials were escorted from the Cotton Bowl in a police car.

Under the bill to be introduced by Kelly, any person throwing such a missile can be fined from $5.00 to $25.00.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The universities of Notre Dame and North Carolina will play a football game in Yankee stadium next fall for the benefit, they say, of the Irish alumni in New York and New England. . . A football oddity is that coach Bud Wilkinson, who made it possible for Oklahoma to pick up a $103,000 Sugar Bowl tab, had to take on two extra jobs to get a salary that would justify his staying there. We doubt that even as fine a coach as Bud can really handle three jobs. . . Biggest post-season grid laugh comes from the solemn statements that the latest change in substitution rule will eliminate bench quarterbacking. After Clemson's footballers had won ten straight games last fall and started receiving bowl "feelin'" tub-thumper Ed Osborne telephoned his predecessor, Joe Sherman. . . "Joe," he said, "I've got an undefeated team on my hands. What do I do now?"

Sherman, who spent more than 20 years at Clemson before moving to Florida, replied sadly: "I don't know, Ed. I never had one."

From The Mouths of—
In the U. of Texas gym a couple of guys were watching Slater Martin in basketball practice. One of them commented admiringly and the other, a sub on the team, replied: "Yeah, I've watched him three years. The first two I thought he was great. Now he's so good I just don't believe it anymore." . . . During the college baseball coaches meeting at San Francisco the boys were discussing ways and means of getting protection from the "raids" of organized ball. Joe Bedenk of Penn State spoke up: "I'm not much concerned about that -- I want some protection from our own engineering faculty."

During a recent William and Mary-V.M.I. basketball game,

Poliburo (Political Bureau) Real Boss of Soviet Russia

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The politburo. You hear it mentioned often. But what is it? It's the real boss of Russia.

It's made up of Joseph Stalin and 13 other top Russian Communists. Its full name is the political bureau.

War? Peace? A big veto in the United Nations? A new five-year plan for Russia? Atomic bombs? The Politburo makes the big decisions.

Yet, the Politburo is not even part of the Russian government. And only a very small percentage of the Russian people are members of the Russian Communist party.

Members of the Russian Communist party hold key jobs in the government. And the key Communists are in the politburo. So the Politburo runs not only the government, but the party itself.

In thinking of Russia, keep a couple of things separate: The party and the government; the mass of the people and the members of the party.

Wants Handpicked Membership
Only about 6,000,000—of the 200,000,000 people in Russia—are permitted at this time to be members of the Communist party there.

The party wants only a small, handpicked membership, tightly organized, devoted to the cause, obedient, disciplined, and well-

Giant German In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Hein Ten Hoff, a giant German who has never lost a fight, is due in New York today to try to help unscramble the heavyweight picture.

The six-foot-four, 203-pound holder of the German unlimited crown is under six months contract with Lew Burston of the Twentieth Century club.

"I hope to fight Joe Louis soon," Ten Hoff said before he left by plane from Frankfurt, Germany.

He won 149 amateur bouts before turning pro, in the money ranks. He has won 14 fights by knockouts, two by decision and has fought one draw. He is 29.

Poliburo (Political Bureau) Real Boss of Soviet Russia

drilled in Communism. It's like a trained army or a special, select group.

(About 18,000,000 young people of both sexes, 15 to 26, are members of the Komsomol: The Communist Youth League. Although schooled in Communism, they are not party members.)

(But they provide the party with the services of devoted youths and a vast pool from which the party can pick future members.)

About once a year all the party members elect delegates to a party convention, called the all-union congress. The congress isn't important.

Then the Politburo.

But the congress elects 71 party members to a central committee which, with the help of other committees, handles party details in Russia.

On top of all this—the congress and the committees—sits the politburo: Stalin and the 13 other top Communists, carefully chosen, running the party.

What follows will show how the politburo also runs the government.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) is made up of 16 republics. (Soviet means council.)

Like our own congress, which makes our laws, the USSR has a parliament, or congress, called the Supreme Soviet, which makes laws for Russia.

Like our congress, with its House and Senate, the supreme Soviet has two branches: The Soviet Union of the Union and the Soviet of Nationalities.

Based on Population

Membership in the Soviet of the Union (like our House in Congress) is based on population. And, just as in our Senate, every state has two representatives, membership in the Soviet of Nationalities is based on the various nationalities in the 16 republics.

In Russia every sane person over 18, with no barrier for race or color, can vote. This means everyone, not just those 6,000,000 members of the Russian Communist party.

But—in Russia there's only one party: The Communist party. So there is no real opposition to what the party wants.

Non-party people are elected to the Supreme Soviet, but this can be done only with approval of the Communist party. And the party members are in the big majority of those elected to the Supreme Soviet. So they run the Supreme Soviet.

Meets Twice a Year

This Supreme Soviet's term is four years. It's supposed to meet twice a year. To do its work while it's not in session, it elects a smaller body, called the Presidium. Communists run this, too. The Supreme Soviet names the attorney general and the members of the supreme court. And it appoints the council of ministers, which is like our own cabinet of department heads, but larger.

These ministers (they used to be called commissars) head the various Russian government departments, like oil, railroads, heavy industry, foreign affairs, chemistry and so on.

But the key ministers are Communists. So they run the government—under the Politburo because—

The Politburo, with its 14 top Communists, tells the other Communists what to do, since it's the Communists who run the government, the politburo is supreme boss.

Clothing From Argentine

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(AP)—An Argentine charity will make formal presentation today (3 p. m. CST) of six crates of clothing—enough for 600 needy children—to a Washington aid group.

The clothing was donated by an Argentine foundation headed by the wife of President Peron, after a routine solicitation had been made to the embassy by Children's Aid, Inc., of Washington.

This group, operated by the Rev. Ralph Vawters and his wife, Mrs. Fay Vawters, expressed surprise when it learned the Maria Eva Duarte de Peron Social Assistance Foundation was providing the six crates of clothing.

"We never had any idea the Argentine Foundation was being solicited," Mrs. Vawters said. The embassy had transmitted the appeal to Argentina, however, and the clothing was collected and sent here.

(The Washington Post editorialized today that (1) either Mrs. Peron was "genuinely touched at what she considered to be the plight of the poor and friendless children of Washington" or (2) someone among her advisers "has a very sly sense of humor and a very shrewd understanding of publicity.")

can win the Gold Bars of an Army Officer

TWO NEW WAYS TO JOIN THE RANKS OF AMERICA'S YOUNG LEADERS

DIRECT COMMISSION

A commission as second lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps with a 2-year initial tour of active duty is ready for you if you meet these requirements: one year of honorable service in any of the Armed Forces between 7 December 1941 and 30 June 1947; have completed two years at an accredited college or university; U. S. citizenship; AGCT score of 110 or better; not more than 32 years old; physically fit. Once commissioned, you'll be assigned to a 3-month officers' training school, and, on successful completion, you'll be free to compete for a Regular Army Commission if you meet the competitive tour age requirements. Go to your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station for complete details at once.

OCS FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

If you've graduated from high school or can pass an equivalent examination, are between 19 and 28 years old, are a U. S. citizen, and have necessary physical qualifications, apply now for enlistment for Army OCS. After your application is approved, you'll be enlisted as a Sergeant and given basic training if you have not had it already, then sent direct to Officer Candidate School, subject to quotas, of course. Upon graduation, you'll be commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Reserve, and placed on two years of active duty. Top OCS graduates are commissioned in the Regular Army—all others may compete for a Regular Army Commission. Get all the facts about applying for OCS entrance at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station without delay!

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—The real estate lobby has concocted a new and unique wrinkle in propaganda—letters to editors. Charles Stewart, press chief for the National Association of Real Estate Boards, conceived this idea for free publicity and sent it out in a confidential letter to local real estate boards.

The letter urged: "Letters to the Editor" columns of newspapers offer an opportunity to get before the public with facts that are important to public issues affecting real estate. . . . This is being overlooked as a public relations medium. . . .

"In every city where rent control prevails, there are persons put to unreasonable hardship by it. Some owners of small rental properties. . . . Are required to accept depression level rent on properties in which the tenant rents out a room or two for more than the entire maximum rent enforced by the housing expector. "Undoubtedly persons aggrieved in this manner are known to board members. Why not contact them and ask them to give the facts about their individual situations in their own words to editors of local newspapers?"

French Friendship
In Strasbourg, France, is a small factory which makes stained glass windows for churches. It is run by Tristram Ruhlmann, a 24-year-old Frenchman who spent most of the war fighting in the resistance movement.

After the war he started his stained glass window factory and a few weeks ago, heard over the radio of how Frenchmen were contributing gifts to the Merci Train to thank the American people for the Friendship Train.

Whereupon M. Ruhlmann feeling that he had something uniquely French to offer, designed a stained glass window for the American people. In the center of the window is a father showing a map of the United States to his son, while around the borders of the window are the coats-of-arms of the Alsatian cities contributing to the Thank-you Train.

Because so many of the French churches had their windows destroyed, M. Ruhlmann's factory has more orders than it can fill, but he took time to make this window for the American people.

Senator Downey Perseveres
Busy-as-a-Bird-Dog Senator Sheridan Downey, sometimes called "the Pacific Gas and Electric" senator from California, has been quite active recently re his own worries over re-election. However, he took time out the other day to do some lobbying which won't help his election chances.

Downey, a likable and convivial senator, never has bothered too much about his own California colleagues in the House of Representatives. Scarcely had two new Californians settled in their congressional offices, however, but they had calls from good old Sheridan about repealing the 160-acre limitation on water rights in central California.

Downey followed this up by taking the two new congressmen—Cecil White of Fresno and Clinton McKinnon of San Diego—out to lunch. He made no bones about arguing that they should vote to remove the 160-acre restriction, placed on reclamation projects to help the small farmers.

Congressman White happens to own 6,000 acres of California farmland. However, he told the senior senator from his state that he was barking up the wrong tree. Congressman McKinnon feels likewise.

Sheridan is a persevering gentleman, however. Last year he published a mysterious and expensively bound book called "They Would Rule the Valley" and sent it out as lobbying literature. The book carried no identification as to its publisher or as to who paid for its publication. Downey, the author, is not wealthy, and could not well afford to finance a book with no sales value. But he never did explain who paid for this expensive piece of propaganda literature.

Merry-Go-Round
It wasn't Truman's fault that the Republicans weren't consulted re the appointment of Dean Acheson as secretary of state. The White House tried to call Senator Vandenberg of Michigan but couldn't locate him. He was in New York at the bedside of his sick wife. . . . Congressman Arthur Klein, New York Democrat, has drafted a resolution asking an investigation of reports that Robert Stripling, shrewd prober for the un-American Activities committee, removed confidential material from committee files to write his memoirs. Having plucked the Chambers films out of a pumpkin, Klein figures it would be just as easy for Stripling to pluck papers out of committee files.

Encouraging the Dictators
Latin-American diplomats are still talking about the way the mayor of New Orleans, charming young De Lesseps Morrison, called at the White House several weeks ago and came out to inform the press that President Truman expressed a "very friendly attitude" toward President Peron of Argentina.

This statement sizzled down the press cables to Latin America and was front paged in every newspaper below the Rio Grande. Naturally, it was manna from heaven to the very same military dictatorships President Truman wants to discourage.

What the newspapers didn't mention, however, was the fact that Mayor Morrison had been awarded the Argentine Order of Liberator by President Peron; that Mrs. Morrison had been given an extravagant ruby and diamond ring by Senora Peron; and that their trip had been carefully arranged by the Argentine dictator as part of his scheme to win over the Truman administration.

Lurking in the background of this little plot was another gentleman from New Orleans, Andrew Jackson Higgins, the boat builder whom Senator Truman once championed. Higgins also took a free trip to Argentina and came back to urge closer relations with the dictator.

On top of this, Peron cleverly awarded the Order of Liberator to Truman's bibulous, backslapping military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan, for his "constant and efficient efforts in favor of close and friendly relations."

All of which leads to the conclusion that either Brother Peron is a very wise guy or that the boys around the White House are awfully dumb. Net result in any event has been a lot of encouragement for Latin dictators.

Note—Actually, President Truman did not encourage the mayor of New Orleans regarding friendship with Dictator Peron. He was quite cagey.

Idaho's New Borah
A down-to-earth, country lawyer with some of the homespun qualities of the late William E. Borah has come to Washington to represent Borah's old state, Idaho, in the senate. He is Bert H. Miller, Democrat, of Boise, who, among all the surprises of the nation's surprise-packed election day, staged one of the biggest upsets of all.

Senator Henry Dworshak, the Republican whom Miller defeated, was considered a sure bet for re-election. He had been in the House of Representatives for some years and seemed so certain of victory that no Democrat was anxious to run against him.

It was Bert Miller who had the courage to leave the security of the Idaho supreme court and take on the uphill job.

One of Miller's assets is that he doesn't take himself too seriously, just as much at home in a kitchen rocker as pleading a case before the bar. He was born in Utah, graduated from Brigham Young university in 1901, migrated to Idaho, became prosecuting attorney, then attorney general of Idaho, then supreme court justice.

The new senator isn't much of an orator—and doesn't pretend to be. He is rather proud of the fact that he campaigned for the senate without making more than two or three speeches. He did use the radio, however, and he did cover the state, shaking hands and meeting people.

Also he carefully clipped all the editorials from the Boise, Idaho Statesman, a Republican newspaper which had vigorously attacked Dworshak for his vote against the Marshall plan, his stand on the Italian treaty and his other isolationist views. Miller published these in pamphlet form, and let the folks read them all over the state. That, plus his own door-to-door campaign, put across one of the greatest of all surprises on November 5.

The new senator from Idaho will be pro-labor, anti-isolationist, will generally follow Truman policies, will be a vigorous booster for reclamation and power projects, and finally will get along with Republicans as well as Democrats.

YOU WOMEN WHO SUFFER
HOT FLASHES then
FEEL CHILLY-

Here's Good News!

Are you between the ages of 38 and 52 and going through that trying functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women? Does this make you suffer from hot flashes, feel clammy, so nervous, irritable, weak? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms! It's famous for this! Many wise "middle-age" women take Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against this distress. Pinkham's Compound contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. It helps nature (you know what we mean!). This great medicine also has what Doctors call a stomachic tonic effect.

PENETRATES into upper bronchial tubes with special medicinal vapors.
STIMULATES chest and back muscles like a good warming poultice.
Best-known home remedy to relieve distress of children's colds is Vicks VapoRub. Its relief-bringing action starts the moment you rub it on throat, chest and back—works 2 ways at once—even as he sleeps.
